

Marine Fighter Attack Squadron 122 Unit, Personal, and Family Readiness Policy

Werewolves, our squadron's most valuable asset is the individual Marine, Sailor, and their families. It is essential to the success of our squadron and success of our mission. The Commandant also deems this as a priority for all commanders and has put forth guidance that can be referenced in the MCO 1754.9B. The Unit, Personal, and Family Readiness Program (UFRP) is the Commander's vehicle to ensure that the unit is combat ready on all fronts. As your Commander, I take personal ownership in our squadron's UFRP.

VMFA-122 family readiness directly impacts OVERALL READINESS. As the Commanding Officer, the Commandant of the Marine Corps has directed me to ensure conditions are set within the squadron to perform our mission. I classify our family resiliency and readiness as a Mission Essential Task, equally important as individual and equipment readiness. With well-informed and well-supported families, our squadron will be better prepared in all facets to respond to whatever the future may hold.

As a Marine, Sailor, or family member of VMFA-122 you are entitled to certain military programs and services and I am dedicated to providing you and your families with the resources, education, and referrals needed for these programs. Our UFRP is structured around a partnership with Marine Corps Community Services (MCCS), Marine Corps Family Team Building (MCFTB), and several other military family resource organizations.

The VMFA-122 Unit Readiness Coordinator (URC), GySgt Bret White, is our primary tool for access and navigation to the full resources and knowledge of the MCFTB program and the MCCS resources that you may need. Our Deployment Readiness Coordinator (DRC), Ashlee Miller, will serve as the primary communication link and point of contact with families along with the URC.

Werewolf families have access to the URC and DRC at anytime day or night. The URC office number is (928)269-8682 and email is bret.white@usmc.mil. The DRC can be reached at (928)269-4277 or ashlee.miller@usmc.mil. Please reach out to them at any time, our team stands ready to support you and your family as we navigate this military life together.

Semper Fidelis
